W. P. WALTON.

The Commercial Traveler who had Taken His Last Order.

"I have taken my last order. I am going home," he said, as the clock struck the midnight hour.

"His mind wanders."

Presently he lifts his feverish head from its pillow. "Any letters from the house?" he inquired. "There ought to be letters here."

Then he slept and in his sleep he was a boy again—babbled of fishing streams where the trout played—of school hours and romps with his mates. At twelve he suddenly awakened.

"All right," he called in a strong voice, "I'm ready."

He thought the porter had called him for an early train. The doctor laid a soothing hand on him and he slept. In his sleep he murmured:

"Show me samples of our goods? I'm going off the road now. This order closes me out. The house called me in. Going to have my first vacation, but I shall lose time—time—time!"

"He dozed off and the doctor counted his pulse. Suddenly the sick man started up."

"Give me a letter from home. Ellen always writes to me here. Dear girl, she never disappointed me yet—and the children. They will forget me if my trips are too long. I have only a few more trips to sell—I promised to be home—promised to be home—promised to be home—"

He slept again and again awakened with a start.

"No word from the house yet?"

He was going fast now. The doctor bent over him and repeated in a comforting voice the promise of his promise.

"In my father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I could have told you."

"Yes—yes," said the dying traveler, faintly. "It is a clear statement. It is a good house to travel for. It deals fair and square with its men."

The chill December morning dawned—the end was very near. The sick man was approaching the undiscovered land from whose bourne no traveler returns.

"I've changed my route," he murmured faintly. "The house is calling me in—write to Ellen and the children that I'm on my way—home—it's in my sample case—without money and without price—a good house—fills all its orders as agreed. Call for me the first train—I am going to make the round trip and get home for Christmas."

They laid his head back on the pillow. He had made the round trip. He had gone home for Christmas.—[Detroit Free Press.]

A few remarks on the care of watches are made by a writer in the Popular Science Monthly. A good watch should be oiled once a year and cleaned once in three years. If a jeweler tells you that there is some very serious trouble or break in your watch, which will cost several dollars to get repaired, ask him to take the watch "down" and let you see the trouble. It is better to wind one's watch in the morning than in the evening, since, if you wind at night and expose the watch to the cold, the chilling of the tightly wound mainspring may break it. Frequently empty out the dust that accumulates so quickly in your watch pocket. It will not injure a watch or clock to turn the hands backward.

STOP OVERS EN ROUTE TO NEW ORLEANS.—The Ohio & Mississippi Railway announces that passengers purchasing excursion tickets to New Orleans will be permitted to stop over at any point south of Cairo, thus affording an excellent opportunity, not only to see New Orleans, but to see the South—the country and the people. Among the points of interest may be mentioned Jackson, Tenn., Holly Springs, Gretna, and Jackson, Miss. From the last it is but a short distance to that Gibraltar of America—Vicksburg.

The completion of the Mackey Bennett cable makes the total length of submarine cable according to the Electrician, about 68,000 miles. Each cable contains an average of 40 strands of wire, so that altogether there are over 2,500,000 miles of wire used in their construction, or ten times the distance from the earth to the moon. Practically all of this has been laid within the last twenty-five years; the greater part within a decade.

There are 3,935 paper mills in the world in which 2,904,000,000 pounds of paper are annually manufactured.

JUST AS GOOD.

Many unscrupulous dealers may tell you they have remedies for Coughs and Colds equal in merit and every respect just as good as the old reliable Dr. Bosanko Cough and Lung Syrup, unless you insist upon this remedy and will take no other, you are liable to be greatly deceived. Prices, 50 cents and $1.00. Sold by McRoberts & Stagg.

MT. SALEM, LINCOLN COUNTY.

—We met Ambrose Butt at Jasper's Store on Friday. He gives a fine description of Kansas.

—The sick ones are all getting better at Middleburg with the exception of Jas. Coffey's little boy.

—The Rev. Jas. M. Coleman is conducting an interesting meeting at the Baptist church at Middleburg.

—It is all a mistake about the ground hog going into his hole on the 2d of February and taking it in after him. Since then several have been tracked up in the snow in this section and caught.

—In the last few days the farmers of this vicinity have opened active hostilities against the briars and sprouts. In many fields they have taken a determined stand. Jake Walls, who has heretofore fought valiantly the sun flowers and burrs of Texas, has never ceased operations in the coldest weather, notwithstanding he received a severe wound from frost in the feet in the contest.

—A brilliant meteor was seen by Mr. Geo. W. Estes on Friday night soon after dark. When first seen by Mr. E. it was high in the heavens in the south west, but it reached the earth due west of him. It appeared about the size of a half bushel measure and seemed to revolve as it went through the air, leaving a luminous streak in its wake. As it neared the tree tops it changed to a fiery red. His daughter, Mrs. E. E. Walls and Mrs. Bettie Montgomery also got a glimpse of the meteor.

—One of the cleverest and jolliest females of this section, who tips the beam at 250, and has always shown the finest judgment and clearest mind on all other subjects, has lately become suspicious on the subject of marketing eggs in her apron worn wrong side outwards. She claims that it insures good luck against her falling and breaking them. Even with these manifestations we are in hopes her friends need feel no apprehension in regard to her mental condition.

—We always thought that our adjoining neighborhood in Casey county could furnish more big people than anywhere, having at present and in past times several 300 pounders, but Casey's 'board is down' now. Mr. W. T. Ryals informed us that he met a cousin a few days since from Adair county, Mr. John Humphrey, who weighs 260. Mr. Humphrey states that he has a brother 21 years old whose weight is 300 pounds and a sister in Grayson county 500 pounds. If any family in the State can beat this let 'em rise and explain.

The N. Y. Sub-Treasury.

In an article illustrating and describing the sub-treasury at New York the World says: These invulnerable storehouses were built in 1863. Their floors, consisting of tempered steel, rest upon thirty feet of solid masonry; their walls and roofs are composed of two sets of steel plates three-eighths of an inch thick. Between these inner and outer steel walls is a space of four inches, which is filled up with round iron balls. A burglar, even though he should have abundant time for operation, would, on driving his drill through the outer wall, encounter a spherical mass of iron, which, when pierced, would make room for innumerable other iron balls, rendering his progress towards vast wealth stale and unprofitable. Each of these gold vaults is provided with 120 iron chests set into the walls. One hundred and five of these chests have a storehouse capacity each for $500,000 in gold. Fifteen of them being able to accommodate $1,000,000 in gold each. A little vault on the main floor is devoted to the safe-keeping of pennies. These much-abused coins are as carefully wrapped up as their golden and silvery cousins and there is to day $30,000 worth of them in this repository.

HOW TO PUT AN EGG IN A BOTTLE.—A writer in the Rural New Yorker tells the young folks how they may perform the magic feat of putting an egg in a bottle. Like many other things, it is easy enough when you know how. This is the way it is done: Soak a fresh egg for several days in strong vinegar. The acid of the vinegar will eat the lime off the shell, so that while the egg looks the same it will be soft and capable of compression. Select a bottle with the neck a third smaller than the egg. With a little care you will have no trouble in pressing the latter in the bottle. Fill the bottle half full of lime water, and in a few days you will have a hard-shelled egg in a bottle with a mouth a third smaller than the egg. Of course you pour off the lime water as soon as the shell hardens. How the egg got into the bottle will be a conundrum that few can answer.

A Mississippi beau who wished to make his sweetheart a Christmas present, and was so puzzled to know just what would best prepare her for a pop of the question, concluded to refer the question to the girl. Meeting her in church he told her of his dilemma, and asked her choice while service was going on. She replied, "Billy, you forget yourself!" "No I don't, but I thought maybe you would rather have something else first." She vowed she didn't mean that, but Billy was so embarrassed over his mistake, that the trade was made, then and there.—[Frankfort Capital.]

McROBERTS & STAGG.

The Druggists, who are always looking after the interest of their customers, have now secured the sale of Dr. Bosanko's Cough and Lung Syrup, a remedy that never fails to cure Colds, Pains in the Chest, and all Lung Affections. ### Alaska as a Penal Colony.

The Knights of Labor in Jackson, Mich., have adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, There is no field left within the bounds of this public in which convicts can be employed without trespassing upon the superior rights of some class or trade of free workmen; therefore be it, by the Knights of Labor of Jackson, Michigan,

Resolved, That in our judgment the only rational solution of this question lies in penal colonization, which has been successfully tested and for years practiced by other nations of the highest civilization and enlightenment.

Resolved, That we recognize in the territory of Alaska—with its vast belt of timber, its rich mines and marble quarries, its interminable fisheries and valuable fur interests—a most auspicious field in which to colonize the convicts of this nation; believing, as we do, that while free labor would be relieved by such a step from hurtful competition with compulsory labor, two other important results would follow, to wit: First, the dormant wealth of a vast domain would be by degrees added to the resources of the nation; and, secondly, society would be purged of the criminal element, and the great expense attendant upon its support would be measurably lessened if not wholly obliterated.

The White House covers about one-third of an acre and it has cost up to the present time about $2,000,000. It is modelled after a castle in Dublin, and the architect, who was a South Carolina man named Hoban, got $500 for drawing the plans. When it was first built, away back in the nineties, it cost $300,000, but the British burned out its insides and its cost has since added to that sum about $1,700,000. In it all of the Presidents since Washington have lived, and each has added to its beauties and its expenses. I think it was John Quincy Adams who bought the first billiard table which was used in it. But in John Adams' time it was only half furnished and Abigail Adams used to dry her clothes in the big east room. Year by year, however, the furnishings have gone on, until now it is a sort of a museum of art and beauty.—[Washington Letter.]

"We charge for obituaries," said an editor to whom had been submitted a long paper commenting on the death of a man.

I thought that you would be glad to print it.

"You would think so if you were to read it. It tells of the sad death of Jackson Romely."

"Who was he?"

"The man who asked 'Is that so?' every time anyone said anything."

"Ah, then I am glad to receive it. All my readers will be glad to know that he is dead."—[Arkansas Traveler.]

He didn't know the Brooklyn girls very well, being a comparative stranger from Philadelphia, but he timidly remarked that he wished he were a leather belt, that he might clasp her waist. She turned up on him a warning blue light glance from her eloquent eyes: "Young man," she said, "if you couldn't squeeze harder and hold on tighter than any belt that was ever fastened with a buckle, nobody has any use for you in Brooklyn, I can tell you." With a wild, bitter cry, he fled out into the black, black night.—[Bob Burdette.]

A doctor who ought to know says that the practice of the wholesale use of smelling salts which came in with the universal fashion of carrying smelling bottles, is sure to have its influence upon the olfactory nerves sooner or later, and render the victim unable to distinguish odors from asfodels. More than all that, it causes headaches, sore throats, and red noses. The last argument will have its weight. The smelling bottle must go.

Possible Purchaser.—Where is Jonah?

Young Artist.—You note the rather distended appearance of the whale's stomach midway between the tail and the neck?

Possible Purchaser.—Yes.

Young Artist.—That's Jonah.

A physician advises everybody to ascertain what diseases have carried off his ancestors with a view to guarding himself, but suppose a man finds that his great-grandfather was drowned at sea, his great-grandfather took poison, his grandfather was hanged and his father was elected Vice President, what is he going to do.

An old lady, who had lived many years very happily with her husband, accounted for it by saying, "You see, I always fed him well. When I was young I won his heart, and now I am old I have won his stomach, and so he is never cross; and therefore we live happily together."

A smart old lady, being called in court as a witness, grew impatient at the questions put to her, and told the Judge that she would stand down, for he was "rally one of the most inquisitive old gentlemen she ever seen."

A teamster in Maine says he can start the worst balky horse by taking him out of the shafts and making him go round in a circle till he is giddy. He has never had to try his method more than twice on the worst cases.

—John Riddel, who lives about 3 miles from town, lost his house and its contents by fire one night last week. The house was insured in the Continental Company for $400 and the furniture for $250. One bed and a few cooking utensils are the only articles that were saved.

—Messrs. C. Crook and C. S. Nield, of Altamont, were in town during the past week. Miss Fannie Bragg came up from Stanford Friday and stayed till Monday. Mrs. Eliza Thompson has returned from a visit to relatives and friends at Crab Orchard. Miss Lou Williams is visiting in Madison. Jack Conn, of Ash Grove, Mo., is at home for a few days.

—A fellow named Hathaway was sent up to take charge of the railroad section at this place while John Cuniff was off on a vacation. He seemed to be a very nice kind of a man and promised to pay for everything he purchased when pay day came. In this way he got in on nearly everybody for a small amount and Saturday night he "folded his tent and silently stole away" to the utter discomfort of his creditors.

On the Thursday preceding his death Schuyler Colfax lectured at the Metropolitan Business College in Chicago, and in one of the first sentences of that lecture he foreshadowed his own end. "The hope of a nation," he read from his manuscript "is in its youth; its young men and women, whose candle of life—unlike my own, which is nearing the socket—burns with all its first splendor."

An exchange contains an account of "a man dying as he was shovelling off the sidewalk." A sidewalk is generally put down to stay, and the man who undertakes to shovel it off deserves to die in the attempt. It is easier to shovel off the snow than to shovel off the sidewalk.—[Norristown Herald.]

Italy is the land of criminals, says the director general of Italian prisons. It has 325 prisons, with a constant average population of 40,000 offenders against the law. Of these over 6,000 are murderers. No other nation in the civilized world has such a large population of criminals.

The building of the Georgia State capitol, at Atlanta, develops the fact that granite can be quarried in Maine, brought to Savannah, and thence by rail to Atlanta at a less cost than it can be had at a quarry only sixteen miles away.

The language of letter seals is the latest. A seal of pink wax means congratulations; one of black condolence; of blue, love; of purple, friendship; of red, business, and an invitation to a wedding or other festivity is sealed with white wax.

The thermometer at Savannah, Ga., fell to 39 degrees, and it was called a "blizzard." The thermometer at Pierre, Dakota, rose to zero, and the Peterites congratulated themselves on the February thaw.

What a terrible affliction about the house is a cross, crying baby! A young man on the very edge of matrimony might easily be frightened from his purpose by hearing too much of that sort of music at the house of his married friends. W. P. WALTON.

THE gallows was again cheated of its rightful fruit last Friday and Neal, who has been pronounced guilty of rape, murder and arson by 36 men, was given a new lease on life. Gov. Knott's cat's paw, Hindman, granted him a reprieve at 12 midnight Thursday and the Sheriff of Carter had to do some lively hustling to get his prisoner from Grayson and back to Mt. Sterling, or a mob would have ended the miserable farce, which a weak executive, with less back-bone than a worm, would keep up forever. There were no new developments in the case and the principal reason for the uncles for act seems to be in the fact that some ex-legislator or other impious fool from Indiana telegraphed this acting governor "to be a man," and save Neal. So to "be a man," gain a little notoriety and to humor a sickly sentimentality for a degraded murderer, the law has been again brought into odium and a mob spirit encouraged. As soon as we learned that Gov. Knott had to take his wife to Florida for her health, as announced by the daily papers, when he was only going to the New Orleans Exposition as stated by the Yeoman, and it was given out that the Lieutenant Governor was not entirely satisfied as to Neal's guilt, after three juries had passed on it, the Court of Appeals had searched from a to z for some technicality to save him and Gov. Knott had sought in vain for some excuse to reprieve, we saw the unmistakable symptoms of a desire on Hindman's part to do something. He was not confronted with any new proof in the case, or at least it has not been so given out, but simply puts his astute judgment against that of forty or fifty as good men who in the past three years have been forced to legally examine it. That he should wait to reprieve after the expense and danger of taking the man into the midst of the people more affected by his inhuman deeds, shows either a vacillating mind or an utter disregard of precipitating another mob and adding other deaths to the score that the terrible crime has already caused. The people of that section have grown to despise the forms of law which seek to save the necks of murderers at the sacrifice of innocent lives, and a state of lawlessness has been brought about by this very case, which is bringing their section into disrepute and disfavor. They see no protection for any but murderers in the so-called law and in sheer self-defense have to resort to the ruder and safer methods of Judge Lynch. These people are loud in their denunciation of the Lt. Governor and not without the best of reasons. He has trifled with them and apparently with the law and deserves their execrations for his needless assumption of authority. That he should assume responsibility in a case which it appears had been settled by his superior, is questionable and his mawkish desire to save a man about whose guilt no reasonable man doubts, reprehensible. We do not wish to be unnecessarily severe on Gov. Hindman, for whom we have always entertained kind feelings, but we can not look on such a course as he has taken with any degree of patience.

THE Owensboro Messenger, which, like this paper, gave Gov. Knott its heartiest support, confesses, as we all must, "to considerable disappointment in his administration. We thought Gov. Knott would make a strictly reform governor, but if he has made any effort in that direction he has woefully missed the mark, according to our way of thinking. However, we are always glad to give a public servant full credit for what he has done. Gov. Knott has been a vast improvement on Gov. Blackburn. His work during the last session of the Legislature commends itself to every impartial citizen. He read every bill carefully, and we believe, vetoed every measure he thought was inimical to the interests of the people or unconstitutional. While he has been entirely lax with the pardoning power, he has, nevertheless, not been as free with it as some of his predecessors, although the character of the convicts he selects for Executive clemency cannot be commended. But he could have done a great deal that he has not done. We hope the Governor may yet see that he is not fulfilling the expectations of his best friends and change his course before it is too late."

TO-MORROW after twenty-four years of weary waiting in the cold, the democratic party will come in out of the wet and resume its proper function in the management of the affairs of this nation as it went to do so ably, so judiciously and so economically for sixty years of its existence. A man who has honored every station in life to which he has been called from Sheriff to Governor of the great State of New York, will at noon to-morrow take the oath of the high office to which he was so triumphantly elected and will, we are sure, make a president of whom all the people will be proud. It will be a bright day in the history of the country, this March 4th, 1885, and mark the beginning of a grand and prosperous new era.

It is going the rounds that Commissioner Evans has reduced the number of clerks in the Internal Revenue office and cut down other expenses till the office is run now at $350,000 less than the last appropriation, which causes the Covington Commonwealth to very truly remark, "Commissioner Evans is not entitled to any credit for the reduction. It is made just as he goes out of office, probably with a view to embarrass his successor. The reduction should have been made years ago."

EX GOV. BERIAH MAGOFFIN passed peacefully away at his home at Harrodsburg, Saturday morning, after a brief illness, aged 71 years. He was the son of Irish parents, a graduate of Centre College and the Lexington Law school; married Miss Anna N. Shelby, a granddaughter of the old Governor, in 1840; was elected to the State Senate in 1850; defeated for Lt. Governor by the Know Nothings in 1855 and elected Governor in 1859. He was opposed to the war and issued a proclamation favoring armed neutrality and forbidding any movement upon the soil of Kentucky by any forces under the orders of other States or by the general government, which was, however, not respected by the latter and complications and conflict with Federal and State authorities being general throughout the State he resigned his office in 1862, and returned to his farm in Mercer where he remained out of politics till 1867, when he was elected to the Legislature. He was a man of much force of character and was held in high regard by all who knew him.

MARONE and Riddleberger, the Senators who misrepresent the grand old Commonwealth of Virginia in the U. S. Congress, though birds of a feather flock no longer together. The little repudiator tried in a sneaking kind of a way to increase the salary of his worthless son, who is clerk of the Public Buildings Committee a $1,000 per annum, but Riddleberger snatched up the little scheme and the Senate refused to make the increase. Young Marone's position is a sinecure anyway, his principal duties seeming to be to get drunk on the salary every day in the year and make a dirty little ass of himself. But that isn't here nor there. What we wish to emphasize is that Marone and Riddleberger have ceased to speak as they pass by and when thieves fall out there is a well authenticated axiom which says that honest men will then get their dues.

THE Knights of Labor at Jackson, Mich., have adopted some resolutions, which are given on our first page, suggesting the penal colonization of convicts in the territory of Alaska, and present some good reasons that it should be done. We advocated this in an article some time ago and still think it the only real solution of the question now vexing so many states.

THE Senate has tacked on an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill subsidizing the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and threatens to force an extra session unless the House agrees to it. The House should see it in haste first. The days of subsidies are past.

THE end of the Knights of Honor litigation does not seem to be yet. Maj. Gratz, attorney for the Supreme Lodge, claims that Judge Breckinridge is still in arrears $32,989.03, which that gentleman strenuously denies.

JOHN D. WHITE entered his protest against a further raid on the National treasury for the benefit of the New Orleans show, which indicates that he is fully as often right as he is wrong in outbursts.

GOV. CLEVELAND and the House do not agree on the silver coinage question. He wrote a letter advocating its suspension, but that body refused to do so by a vote of 118 to 149.

NEWSPAPER postage is to be reduced one half after July 1st next, which will be a big item in the pockets of publishers in these days of cheap papers.

THE Louisville Medical College has just turned out 63 young doctors to prey upon the public.

—Miss Mary Jesse, aged 50, while attempting to cross a creek near her home in Shelby county, had her carriage upset by the floating ice, and she was caught by the rapid current and drowned.

—Young Todd, who stole $120,000 from the President of the Life and Trust Company, gets off with two years in the penitentiary. Sixty thousand a year is pretty good pay for all the work he will do in the penitentiary.

—Wm. Jackson Moore, of Tridelfia, Washington county, Pa., went to Pittsburgh for the purpose of consulting legal advice concerning property which he claims to have been defrauded out of by relatives. He says his stepdaughter and her husband kept him a prisoner in a cellar for eleven years, and made him sign a will in their favor. He dug a stone out of the wall, broke the door open and escaped.

—Senator Bowles, of Glasgow, has been indicted in two cases at Bowling Green for adultery. The Senator is a married man but was unable to withstand the bewitching smiles of a fair client, whom he induced to go with him to the town mentioned, where they remained several days, passing themselves off as husband and wife and sharing the same room and bed. LATER. The Senator denies in a card that he and Miss Lawrence did anything wrong.

—A farmer named Mose Caton, living in Union county, hung his wife, whom he married four years ago, last Saturday, after beating her terribly. He was assisted by his sons by a former marriage. The latter and his family refused to surrender, and the old man was shot in the ankle, John was shot through the lung, and Annie, a daughter, was shot in the bowels. The whole party, consisting of Mose, Weely, John, Tom and Annie, were finally arrested and taken to Morganfield.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

Ordered to be Held April 4th.

Pursuant to a call, the Democratic Committee met at the office of the INTERIOR Journal yesterday. Present besides the Chairman and Secretary, R. H. Bronaugh, A. J. Henry and T. D. Newland. After discussion it was decided that a primary election would better determine the claims of the candidates to represent the county in the Legislature and also for county Judge, to fill the unexpired term of Judge E. W. Brown, deceased, and such an election was therefore ordered to be held on the first Saturday in April, in manner and form to-wit:

The election shall be at the usual voting places of the various precincts, except that the two Stanford precincts shall vote as one at the Court-house. The vote shall be given, to be taken between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M. and shall be held by the persons named below.

None but those who have heretofore affiliated with the democratic party and those who will become of voting age by the next election and show by their antecedents and promises that they will act with the democratic party, shall be entitled to vote in this election.

At the close of the polls the officers shall count the vote and certify the number which each candidate has received, a statement of which must be forwarded to the chairman of the committee at Stanford by Monday, 6th, when he will, in the presence of the Secretary and any other of the Committee who cares to be present, open the returns and after ascertaining who has received the highest number of votes declare him the nominee of the party.

The following gentlemen are appointed to hold the election: At Crab Orchard, W. O. Hansford, George W. DeBorde, judges, M. W. Jones, Clerk; Walnut Flat, H. S. Newland, T. C. Coffey, judges, J. G. Lynn, clerk; Stanford, L. L. Dawson, R. C. Harris, judges, J. M. Phillips, clerk; Turnersville, S. M. Owens, Dr. T. M. Lewis, judges, John Bailey, clerk; Hustonville, J. W. Ried, James P. Good, judges, Geo. B. Cooper, clerk; Highland, J. H. Carter, Jesse McGuffey, judges, D. A. Baugh, clerk; Wayneburg, Ben. Warner, Ellicott Gooch, judges, E. B. Caldwell, Jr., clerk.

In the absence of one of the officers at a precinct, the other two can select a third, but should only one or none of them be present, the county committee or a majority of the democrats present shall name others. J. E. LYNN, Chm. W. P. WALTON, Sec'y.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—County Judge, Geo. L. Lee has sold his residence on Lex. street to the Misses Fisher, for $3,400.

—Lewis Cohn has sold the property recently purchased by him from Geo. Lawrence to Gilcher Bros. for $2,300.

—The charter of the Central National Bank of Danville will expire by limitation March 24, but is to be continued under the name of the Boyle National Bank of Danville. Messrs. B. O. Rodes, of this place, and Wallace Green, of Perryville, will be added to the present Board of Directors.

cellent views of different points of interest between Cumberland Falls and New Orleans.

—Scott Milburn was struck by an engine on the L. & N. road, near Junction City, about 1:15 Sunday morning and killed, his head being badly crushed. It is supposed that Mr. Milburn sat down on the side of the track to rest and that sleep overcame him. He was about 30 years old and leaves a wife and one child.

—A box containing a bottle filled with a whitish colored paste, some wheels resembling clock wheels, and wires running from the bottle into a roll of cotton was found on the steps leading to the police court room Monday morning. The general supposition was that it was an infernal machine and that Penians and Finnigans placed it where it was found in order to destroy the police court. It had not gone off when this report closed.

—A fight and a shooting scrape in which no one was seriously hurt, occurred Saturday evening at the depot between Mr. Silas Wilder and Mr. A. J. Potts. Potts struck Wilder over the head with a tin bucket in which there was some beer, and Wilder shot at Potts five times, fortunately without hitting him, the beer in Mr. Wilder's eyes probably accounting for his inaccurate shooting. Potts was under the impression that Wilder had carried the beer to his son John, who is telegraph operator at the depot, but it seems the impression was altogether wrong for John had been in Lexington several hours before the arrival at the depot of Mr. Wilder and the beer.

—Hon. A. G. Talbott, Messrs. Herbert McGoodwin, Hugh Ruess, J. B. Thomas, George Cogar, Wm. Duke, R. D. and David Logan and Nicholas McDowell compose the Danville delegation of renowned Kentuckians now in Washington. Mr. Breckinridge Jones has returned to St. Louis. Rev. H. T. Daniel, of Richmond, preached at the Baptist church Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Miss Amelia Bottom and Miss Sadie Cecil are attending the Exposition at New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Woodcock have returned from Florida and New Orleans. Capt. G. H. Dobyns, of the Revenue Service, has been assigned to duty at E. P. Conley's distillery in Jessamine county.

—The annual election of the literary societies of Centre College took place Friday night with the following result: On the part of the Chamberlain Society R. W. Eastland, of Harrodsburg, was elected 1st speaker; John Ruple, of Perryville, and Jas. Stout, of Danville, 2d and 3d do. The June speakers are: 1st Francis M. Wilson, of Platte City, Mo., and 2d J. W. Phelps, Millersburg. The Denologian Orators are: 1st S. J. Palliam, Shelby City; 2d G. A. Titterton, Dallas, Texas; 3d W. E. Boyce, Indianapolis. The June speakers are R. S. Dawson, Danville, Farnwell Address, and Wm. Crutcher, Danville, 1st speaker. After the election the boys had a banquet at Gilcher's Hotel, and after that they serenaded their lady friends leaving at the door of each house visited a card with the following inscription: "Compliments of the Phi-Del-Theta Fraternity."

The average number of eggs laid by an ordinary flock of hens is eight, and a half to the fowl, yet instances are recorded where a hen has laid 250 eggs in one year. From sixteen to seventeen dozen is considered a remarkable yield by poultry raisers.

IN MEMORIAM.

After languishing on a bed of suffering, Mrs. Isabelle Holley, step daughter of Capt. J. M. Carter, was called home February 27, 1885.

It is with sad hearts that we announce the death of this loving wife, mother and daughter. She leaves many friends besides those to whom she was near and dear, who loved her with the tenderest love. She was born December 10, 1864, and was called away in the early morn of life. Isabelle Roberts (better known as Belle Carter) was married to W. R. Holley, Dec. 25, 1883, but was only permitted to cheer his path the short time of fourteen months. She leaves a little babe of four months, besides mother, sisters and brothers, to all of whom she was a priceless jewel, for her life seemed like a summer day. She was a sweet and loving wife, a kind, obedient daughter and a loving sister. All have the deepest sympathy of their many dear friends far and near. Her remains were taken to Buffalo Cemetery for interment.

"Her suffering ended with the day,
Yet lived she at its close,
And breathed the long, long night away
In statue like repose.
But ere the sun in all her state
Illumed the eastern skies,
She passed through glory's morning gate
And walked in paradise." M. A. D.

—MR. JOHN HEWES, of Alliance, O., has moved to this county and now occupies his son's farm near McKinney.

—CAPT. G. H. MCKINNEY, who has been doing duty for the last month as gauger at the Silver Creek distilleries, was home Sunday.

—MR. ARNER CHENAULT, of Fort Scott, Kansas, was here a few days on a business trip, looking as if Western life agreed with him.

—MISS LUCY BEAZLEY and her brother Jim are up from Louisville on a visit to their grandmother, Mrs. Susan Stewart, who still remains quite ill.

—ON a letter head asking us to change his paper to Wichita, Kansas, we notice that our young friend, Dr. A. O. Burtice, is now one of the proprietors of the Eye, Ear & Surgical Institute, at that place.

—MR. T. T. DAVIES, who has been housed by illness all winter, came out in the beautiful sunshine Saturday and appeared on the streets for the first time this year. We hope his shadow did not scare him back to stay.

—COL. AND MRS. W. G. WELCH went to Louisville yesterday, where the latter will visit her sister, Mrs. Thompson, while the Col. goes to Washington to swell the army of Kentuckians already there. He does not go as an office seeker, however, though he admitted to us in strictest confidence that he would accept a Cabinet position provided Mr. Cleveland offered it in the proper spirit.

LOCAL MATTERS.

THE Springtime has come, gentle Annie.

BIGGEST line of bird cages ever brought to Stanford at Bright & Curran's.

FOR RENT.—Two desirable dwelling houses at Richmond Junction. Huff Daddars.

THE town clock was dumb again from Saturday night to yesterday morning. Some work seems to be necessary.

H. J. DART offers for sale 2 building lots, 66x132 feet, between Stanford and Rowland, well located and accessible.

WANTED.—A window in some store or a room in Stanford for watch-making and repairing. Address H. Cartwright, Highland.

A LIVE eagle which measured eight feet from tip to tip was exhibited here yesterday by Michael Cloyd, who caught it on his place.

L. M. LEACH was drunk and disorderly yesterday and when marshal Newland pulled him he found a little pistol on his person. He was lodged in jail.

YESTERDAY, Mr. Willis G. Padgett obtained license to marry Mrs. Elizabeth Butler on at O. K. to-day. This is the second matrimonial venture of each.

FEBRUARY was the coldest month of the winter and the coldest February since 1875. The average temperature during the month was three degrees below the freezing point.

MR. W. E. VARNON says he did not call on the court to silence Alfred Mullins, as we stated, but he and others present agree that the accused was allowed greater privileges than a man ever was in a court of justice.

FRIDAY and Saturday were two as pretty days as ever came in winter, but the month of many weathers came in with a little blizzard, making Sunday and yesterday quite disagreeable, though clear for the most part.

THE editor can now hear the telegraph's tick from his own residence, so look out for the latest news by wire. Mr. Frank Harris, the chief of train dispatchers, has put an instrument in his room next door to us, and can now issue orders from his own fire-side.

A LONDON, KY., woman sneezed while she had a pin in her mouth and it disappeared down her throat, and she is now frightened almost to death with the thought that it will kill her. With as many places to stick pins about her as a woman has, it is strange that she should use her mouth as a receptacle for them and stranger still that more accidents of the sort do not happen.

REMEMBER W. H. Higgins has the Flint Steel Imperial Plow.

WE have taken the Agency for the Aetna Powder and are prepared to make estimates on blowing up stumps. Bright & Curran.

WE have just opened the nicest line of Glass and Queensware ever brought to this market. We defy competition in styles and prices. Warren & Metcalf.

DESIRING to lead a more private life, Mr. A. T. Martin resigned the office of constable yesterday and Judge Varnon appointed Daniel Miller to fill out his unexpired term.

DEATH.—MR. W. R. HOLLEY, wife of Engineer Holley and step-daughter of Capt. J. W. Carter, died at Rowland, Friday night, aged 20 years. She leaves an infant four months old and a husband heart-broken at his loss. A large concourse of friends followed the remains to the cemetery and the scenes there were truly affecting.

SOME thieves broke into the hen house of Mr. G. A. Lackey, Sunday night, and killed five fowls which they evidently put in a bag, with the intention of carrying away, but when they found they could effect an entrance to his smoke-house, they threw the hens away and made off with ten hams. No clew.

FIRE.—The residence of Mr. G. A. Swinebrod was burned Saturday afternoon together with all the furniture save a bed or two. None of the family was at home and the origin of the fire is unexplained. The loss falls particularly severe on Mr. S., as he was just beginning to get fixed up well. There was no insurance and the loss is estimated at $1,500.

FROM what we can learn the severe assault of Spears Fisher on H. T. Harris yesterday was entirely uncalculated. He beat him cruelly about the head, when no man, who has the right kind of courage would have thought of doing so. Mr. Harris is physically unable to resent an insult if he were morally capable of doing so and the law should be called to his protection.

MAJ. F. D. RIGNEY, of Casey, was here yesterday, to ascertain the feeling of the people as to his becoming a candidate to succeed himself in the Senate, and we learn he met with considerable encouragement. He has only served half a term, and thinks Casey should be entitled to a full term once in a lifetime. The last time she enjoyed it was in 1849. The Maj. has many friends who are anxious that he should make the race.

THE best preserved and most active man of his age in all these parts is Mr. James R. Warren. Though four-score years have known him they have left but little impress on his person, which retains its pristine erectness, while his eye is as bright and his mind as clear as it was when he passed the 60th mile post on the journey of life. He does not look a bit older than 60 and bids fair to rival Dr. Graham's long stay upon the earth. He was in to see us a few days ago and was particularly cheerful and in apparently the best health.

AN OLD PAPER.—Mr. Mack Huffman showed us yesterday a copy of the Ohio Branch, published at Danville, Ky., May 30th, 1835, just 50 years ago. The name of S. S. Dismukes appears as editor and the paper was then in its 10th year. There is no local or personal news in it and the questions discussed relate to the split in the democratic party between the Van Buren and the white democrats. The advertisements show a different set of names entirely of men now doing business in Danville. One item tells that whisky had risen to 38 cents, which was, no doubt, mighty bad news to the ancient toper.

COUNTY COURT.—Judge Varnon, fresh from a visit to Washington, occupied the bench yesterday, with a smiling countenance, which seemed to say "I got all I want for," while Clerk Blain wore a fully as cheerful air. They had a considerable number of fiduciary settlements and road cases on hand but as they are not of public concern we omit them. The will of Silas Baugh was admitted to probate. Mr. Sarah Eubanks qualified as administratrix of her husband, Mr. B. F. Eubanks, and Mr. B. Eubanks selected J. C. Eubanks as his guardian. Mr. Daniel Miller's bond as constable was received and approved.

THE Legislative candidates addressed the dear people yesterday, who judging from the way they packed and jammed the Court House, feel considerably interested in the race. Mr. W. F. McClary led off in a well-studied and well delivered speech; Mr. John H. Miller followed in his dry and humorous way and Dr. J. D. Pettus came next in a dignified little address. They all announced that if elected they would be governed by the will of the people and advocate any measure that they would direct. But Mr. John J. Bright, who was the last to speak, stated his platform boldly. He was for prohibition, for the enacting of a whipping-post law and against free turnpikes and if the people wanted to support him on these principles, he would pledge his sacred honor to do all in his power to procure the passage of such laws, but if they didn't want him on these grounds, they could vote for somebody else. All the speeches were well received and each was greeted with applause from his supporters and friends.

SHERIFF McNEFFRE sold yesterday, 4,096 acres of land for taxes, only realizing $201.60. Otis Newland was the principle purchaser.

RELIGIOUS.

—Louisville is the city of churches, having it is stated, 123.

—Rev. J. M. Bruce has gone to Louisville to listen to the gospels as preached by Moody and the English Evangelist, Varley.

—Sunday being the first day of spring, we ascertained around to each Sunday school in town to note their numerical condition. We found the Methodist with 27 teachers and scholars combined; the Baptist with 74; the Presbyterian with 82 and the Christian with 84, making a total of 297, which is rather a poor showing for a town of 2,000 inhabitants.

—During services at a Methodist church at Ironton, O., a young rough misbehaved and continued to do so after the Rev. Jonathan Thomas' gentle reproof. Then the reverend gentleman quietly walked down the aisle where the man was and seizing him with a firm grip by the collar led him out of the building. He grew very demonstrative after being put out, when he was arrested and at his trial fined $50 and sent to jail ten days. That is the only way to treat such cattle.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—I want a few loads of corn at once. R. T. Mattingly, Stanford.

—May wheat which dropped to 78 Friday went up to 80 Saturday in Chicago.

—Dogs killed $500 worth of fine sheep for Jas. E. Clay and his father Monday night, in Bourbon.

—Robt. Bonner, the owner of Maud S., has declined all applications to exhibit her the coming season.

—John F. and Geo. White, of White's Station, have sold to Jas. Martin twelve mules, 15 to 15½ hands high, at $135 @ $135. —[Richmond Register.]

—Good logs are quoted in Louisville at $6.25 to $6.75 per cwt; common to medium leaf at $6.50 to $11; and good to fancy leaf from $8 to $12 for crop of 1884.

—I have for sale a lot of seed corn, of the variety that has taken the premiums at the State Fair at Frankfort for the last two years. It is large and very fine. Price $1 per bushel. B. W. Gaines, Shelby Ctr.

—An uncle of Mr. J. E. Pleasants, of this place, is largely in the prune raising business in Solano county, California, and we see in a paper published there, he has just shipped ten tons of them to San Francisco.

—In many wheat fields there is not a germinating seed to be seen. We are told from several sections, that the crop is almost a total failure. Some farmers, however, assert that very little definite can yet be told as to the final wheat outcome—that when spring opens up it will warm up the land and develop the crop amazingly. —[Glasgow Times.]

—Yesterday was a fine, large day and many people took advantage of it to come to court. A good deal of business was done and much stock changed hands. Capt. H. T. Bush reports: About 350 scrub cattle on the market, sold at from 3 to 4 cts. per lb. Good demand for good cattle, but none on market. Some aged mules sold from $100 to $125. Plug horses brought from $60 to $100. Business lively.

—A. M. Egbert, the renowned artist of Black Hill's fame, and the only man that ever erected a gallery upon "Pike's Peak," has opened up in town and is ready to catch shadows in any size or shapes required.

—Judge W. O. Hansford starts to-night (Sunday) for Washington City to be present at the Inauguration, and hopes to bring back the news that our friend and fellow countryman, Col. W. G. Welch has been appointed Collector of the district.

—J. L. Slavin has opened a grocery and hardware store, on Stanford street opposite the Stephens House and keeps a full line of sugars, coffees, flour, meal, bacon and a various number of other articles; all at rock-bottom prices for cash; country produce taken in exchange for goods. Call and get his prices before purchasing elsewhere.

—My friend, Jim Hutchings, can buy corn lower and make more whisky out of it than any man in these parts. He only makes from 4½ to 5 gallons to the bushel but the boys that drink say that it is the best that is made in ten States. As I don't indulge myself, am not a competent judge.

—W. R. Dillion traded his span of black horses to Mr. Bywater, of Walnut Flat, for a nice bay mare and got $200 to boot. Chris McCutche, of Paint Lick neighborhood, bought of Martin Rose a yoke of oxen weighing 1,850 lbs., for 4½ cents, and a bunch of scrub calves of Calvin Whitt for $15 per head. R. H. Bronrugh bought for Jesse C. Fox one yoke of oxen of S. A. Middleton that weighed 2,550 lbs., for 4½ cents, and also sold to same party one two-year-old steer, for $45.

Seven Inches, No Ice Hardly.

[To the Editor of The Interior Journal.]

You were in fault when you stated in the INT. J. that seven inches was about as thick as ice got to be here. You have not lived in this country as long as I have.

About 50 years ago, (more or less), I cut the ice on Dawson's mill pond and found it full 12 inches thick, measured with a rule. There fell a snow on that a foot deep. The road being bad on the bank of the Fork, the country road was abandoned and the road used on the ice for travel and hauling. There was a number of large saw-logs hauled one and a half miles on the ice to Dawson's saw mill.

Before the late war I put up ice off of Dawson's mill pond about the middle of March 8 inches thick.

J. L. D.

P. S. Ask John B. Dickerson if he recollects about it.

After an exciting chase and a terrible encounter lasting over an hour, recently, a mammoth right whale was captured in the ocean off Southampton, L. I. After being killed several miles out from the shore, the monster was towed to the land by the combined efforts of three boats' crews. It is nearly 40 feet long and 30 feet in circumference, and will yield about 70 barrels of oil, besides the whalebone. Seven hundred dollars have been offered for its head by speculators. It is valued at about $1,200, and is the third whale captured off this coast lately, which is an unusual occurrence.

The Beauty of Youth.

No matter how handsome or stalwart a young man may be otherwise, nothing can make up for a partially bald head. Shining talents are attractive, but a shining poll is not. The cause may be sickness or anything else, yet Parker's Hair Balsam will stop the loss of the hair and start a new growth of glossy and soft hair so quickly as to surprise you—restoring the original color at the same time. Not a dye, not oily, delicately perfumed. Only standard 50c dressing.

HCW NOTED MEN AND WOMEN LOOK.

ROBERT McLANE

Among the names mentioned for a cabinet place has been that of Robert McLane, of Maryland, who is well qualified by association and experience to fill the highest position in the gift of President-elect Cleveland. The McLanes of Maryland are among the first families in an honorary way in the United States. Allen McLane was a distinguished revolutionary officer. His son Louis represented Maryland in congress for ten years prior to 1827, when he was chosen senator. He was minister to England under Gen. Jackson, and afterwards secretary of state till June, 1834. Robert, the present leading representative of the family, possesses in a marked degree the talents of his ancestors; he has taken an active part in the politics of his state, filling acceptably every position to which he has been chosen.

How Dorsheimer Sees Dorsheimer.
(Philadelphia Record.)

Stuttering "Bill" Travers took Dorsheimer out for a drive out of New York. Travers got out at a "halfway" hotel and got a drink. "Who's that in your wagon, Bill?" asked a caddy standing by. "Oh," said Travers, "it's that ex-Lieutenant Governor D-D-D-Dorsheimer." "Why," said his friend, "I had no idea he was such a big man." "Y-y-y-y," responded Travers as he left the bar.

Editor of the Omaha Herald.

Dr. George L. Miller is a native of Central New York. He moved to Nebraska in 1854 upon the organization of that territory, where he has since resided. After practicing his profession, that of medicine, for a few years, he abandoned it for the more congenial one of journalism, and began in 1862 the publication of The Herald. As a keen and forcible writer, with a rare command of language and great capacity for work, he has made The Herald a power in the politics of the northwest. He has been a prominent member of the Democratic national committee for many years, and his friends claim, few men in position for services rendered than Dr. Miller.

The Value of Newspaper Portraits.
(Commercial Bulletin.)

A capital idea of some of the papers is to publish the portrait of a "missing man," because if the m. m. should happen to see it he would undoubtedly return to kill the publisher.

Member of Congress from Massachusetts.

P. A. COLLINS

"Gen." P. A. Collins, as he is best known at his home in Massachusetts, has been frequently mentioned for a cabinet position under the new administration. He did right loyal service for his party in the last campaign, being one of the earliest and hardest workers in the field. Gen. Collins was born in Ireland in 1844, was in early life an up-and-coming lawyer in Boston and at Harvard college. Since his admittance to the bar he has practiced in Boston. He was elected a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1870-71, was judge advocate general of Massachusetts in 1873, and at present represents the fourth district of that state in congress.

Rinkie, Rinkie, Little Wheel.
(H. S. Keller.)

Rinkie, rinkie, little wheel, Fastened to the skater's heel, How I love to see you whirl, Propelled by a dainty girl; How I love to see you glide gracefully on the outside; Curve of beauty, line of grace—See the pretty maiden's face. For the first time she does don, For the first time stands upon Rinkie, rinkie, little wheel, Fastened to her toe and heel. Ah! an effort she does make, Now the spectators they break For the wall to get away From her arms at windmill play; Yes, she tried, but down she went, And her bustle got a dent.

The Law in the Case.

[Harper's Weekly.]

Mr. Johnson, of Providence, R. I., having lost his wife, made proposals of marriage to a lady of his acquaintance. Her answer was: "Mr. Johnson, my friends think that it is not proper for me to receive your attentions so soon after the death of your wife." To which he replied, "Madam, I have been a constable for more than thirty years, and during that time I have been in constant attendance upon the courts of this state, and I think I ought to know something about law, and I can tell you that when a woman has been dead and buried four months she is just as dead in the eyes of the law as if she had been dead a year." This presentation of the case was convincing.

The Great Operatic Conductor.

THE LATE LEOPOLD DAMROSCH.

The sudden death of Dr. Leopold Damrosch in New York city on Feb. 15, at the age of 52, cast a gloom among music lovers the world over. Dr. Damrosch sacrificed his life to his art. He died from overwork. A few days before he passed away he essayed to fill one of his numerous engagements, and while leading his chorus of 300 singers he was obliged to cling to his music stand for support, while the baton almost dropped from his fingers. It had been the ambition of his life to see German opera presented in a fitting manner to the American people. To this end he founded the now celebrated oratorio, and symphony societies. The former now contains 480 singers, and the latter society is on an equally grand scale. He was just about closing one of the most successful seasons of grand opera ever seen in this country, after which he intended visiting the principal cities. His son Walter Damrosch, who has had charge of the chorus of 70 singers in Rev. Henry Ward Beecher's church, it is expected will take up his father's baton. Dr. Damrosch was a native of Posen. To gratify his parents he studied medicine at Berlin, though his inclination was toward a musical career. By accident he met the great Abbe Liszt, who took an interest in him and introduced him to the great musical celebrities of the age, which gave him a prestige that brought him opportunities and fame.

It Worked Like New Yeast.
(New York Times.)

Brown (who has just had telephonic connection established between his office and house and is very much pleased with it): I tell you, Smith, this telephone business is a wonderful thing. I want you to dine with me this evening, and I will notify Mrs. Brown to expect you. (Speaking through the telephone): My friend Smith will dine with us this evening. Now listen and hear how distinctly her reply will come back.

Mrs. Brown's reply (coming back with startling distinctness): Ask your friend Smith if he thinks we keep a hotel.

One of the Greatest Novelists of the Age.

GEORGE ELIOT.

George Eliot, one of the greatest novelists of our time, and perhaps the best equipped in point of scholarship of any man, was born at Chilvers Coton, in England, on the 21st of November, 1819. Her father, Robert Evans, was a land agent and valuer of estates, and at Griff house, on the Arbury estate, this most wonderful woman of the present century spent the first 30 years of her life. She was named Mary Ann, afterward softened into Marian, and with all her fame, her own name, Marian Evans, never appeared on but one of her books, and that a translation. Her early life was by no means as humble as has often been represented. Her father was a man of remarkable determination, scrupulous probity, and devoutness of spirit, as well as varied practical knowledge. Her mother was an active, practical, shrewd woman, who died while the future George Eliot was 17 years old. This great genius was not a precocious child as regards books. It is even recorded that she learned to read with some difficulty. At the age of 5 she was sent to a small boarding school, and at 9 was transferred to a larger school, where she remained until 13, when she was sent to a still better citadel of learning until she was 16. From that until she wrote her first story, at the age of 37, she was an indefatigable student of learning and science, encouraged and directed during a large part of the time by some of the most accomplished and able minds of England. She knew all the popular modern languages as well as Hebrew and Greek, and between the years of 1842 and 1857, her literary judgment and style were fashioned by the work she did as associate editor of The Westminster and as contributor to other periodicals. This and contact with the best brains of the realm equipped her for her future work as a novelist with all the thought, the erudition and the science of her time. Her first story was "The Sad Fortunes of the Reverend Amos Barton." Before this she had contracted a union with George H. Lewes, the author, only broken by his death, Nov. 28, 1878. In May the following year (1879) she married John Walter Cross, and on Dec. 22, 1880, she died and was buried in Highgate cemetery next to Mr. Lewes. Her spirit joined that choir invisible "whose music is the gladness of the world."

Newspaper Braggadocio.
(Norristown Herald.)

A Georgia editor printed in his paper a picture of himself carrying a big pistol in one hand, a dagger in his mouth, and two daggers and a sword in his belt. Next day when he saw a woman enter his office with danger in her eye and a horse in her right hand, he jumped out of a second-story window and concealed himself in a woodshed.

Amalgamation.

[T. P. Conant.]

Amalgam was a chieftain bold, The bravest of his clan; In legend quaint his praise is told, For in the glorious days of old He was a mighty man.

There came a maid, ah! fair was she, But doleful was her state; "Alas! though he care not for me," She sang in mournful melody: "I would Amalgam mate."

Then said the warrior: "Single bliss Has been much overrated," And, pressing on her lips a kiss, This dainty mediæval miss Straightway Amalgam mated.

O, lady mine, he ne'er did rue Him of his captivation; Be mine his joy—I love but you, And each to each we'll e'er be true, In sweet amalgamation.

Her Choice of Apostles.
(Chicago Ledger.)

"And so you've named your baby, have you?" "Oh, yes." "What is it you call him?" "Thomas Mucovsky Martin Luther Benson." "The poor little fool! Why did you load it down with so much name?" "Well, it seemed as though I couldn't light my own brother, and I insisted on Mucovsky on his account." "But how about Martin Luther? You wasn't under any special obligations to him." "No, but my husband was determined that he must be named after one of the apostles, and Martin was my choice of the lot."

Which Patient?
(San Francisco Chronicle.)

"Henrietta, dear?" "Yes, ma'am," from the daughter at the door parting from her sweetheart, who is just kissing her good night. "Tell George to look out for the paint." George does not kiss her again. Henrietta thinks it is real mean of her mother to give her away, until she remembers that the front gate has just been newly painted.

A Much Needed Improvement in Theatres.
(London Punch.)

A Long Felt Want.
(The Rambler.)

Mr. Capel is busily engaged on his book "America," in which he says he hopes "to break down barriers and bring different classes of people closer together." If the Monsignor's book could succeed in bringing the police and dynamites closer together it would fill a want long felt.

Dedicated to the Next President.
(Davenport Gazette.)

I want to be a P. M., And with the P. M. stand; An ink pad on the table, A stamp in my hand. And there before the letters I'll work with glowing face, And thank the great unfettered For giving me the pace.

Common Sense in the Household.
(Burlington Free Press.)

Fashion in Furniture.
(Flagging Blatter.)

She: "You must acknowledge, my dear, these chairs at least no drawback have." He: "I was going to say they were all drawbacks."

Friction of Gentle Life in Chicago.
(Chicago Herald.)

"Let go my ear," yelled a passenger on a west side street car yesterday. "I beg your pardon," said the other man, "I thought I had hold of the strap."

About the Fame Thing.
(R. J. Burdette.)

"Is your son through with college, Mr. Old-boy?" "No, not exactly. The college is through with him."
